

Reusing basic materials is the best way to dispose of E-Waste

Responsible E-Waste disposal helps your community and saves you money.

Your E-Waste can actually be a valuable asset to your community. When you call ReliaTech for an E-Waste pickup, you are helping to create jobs, helping to keep the planet healthy, and helping your bottom line with a tax-deductible donation to a hard-working nonprofit.

There are better ways to dispose of E-waste.

ReliaTech E-Waste recycling...

- Friendly to our planet
- Great for our customers
- Helps the Stride Center reduce poverty by creating jobs

Better for the Planet and its People... All E-waste collected by ReliaTech is first evaluated for its re-use potential. Anything that can be refurbished or reused is removed from the waste stream and put back to work. Then, our trained dismantlers break down the E-waste into component parts – copper, aluminum, steel, printed circuit boards, and so on. Each type of material is responsibly recycled right here in the United States. Our facility and those of our partner recyclers all are carefully monitored to maintain healthy working conditions.

Better for You, the ReliaTech Customer... Our customers are able to dispose of their E-waste with a clear conscience and an improved bottom line. Reliatech seldom charges to pick up or dispose of E-Waste in the areas in which we work. We guarantee data security by wiping drives clean to Department of Defense Standards or physically destroying them. When you get rid of unwanted IT equipment and other E-Waste with ReliaTech, you know that the highest standards are being applied.

Better Jobs in Our Community... Every cent of profit that ReliaTech generates goes directly to the Stride Center, to help pay for programs that train low-income adults to become computer technicians. Student interns working at ReliaTech receive invaluable hand-on training as an adjunct to their classroom work. 80% of Stride Center graduates get well-paid jobs, smashing the cycle of poverty.

Call us today to have your E-Waste picked up at no cost to you. We will come to you and remove your E-Waste for free, subject to minimum quantities, and geographic limitations.

ReliaTech is a California State Registered E-Waste collector #93-051370.
